Kennedy Offers Nikita Program On Outer Space

Proposes Joint Efforts on Weather, Communications

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reportedly proposing to Premier Khrushchev a series of concrete steps for joint action by the United States and the Soviet Union to explore and develop outer space for peaceful purposes.

Officials indicated his specific suggestions embrace plans for joint international action on a weather satellite system and the development of communications satellites and deep space probes to other planets.

Disclosure of the new Kennedy message to Moscow came in the midst of preparations here and in foreign capitals for the opening of disarmament talks in Geneva next week.

The timing presumably is designed to stress the Kennedy administration's announced policy of seeking ways in which the United States and the Soviet Union may work together constructively in the interest of better East-West relations.

The President told a news conference late Wednesday that he had just written a letter to Khrushchev putting forward some proposals on the peaceful uses of outer space.

Kennedy expressed hope about the outcome of the Geneva negotiations but refrained from any optimistic predictions.

He said the meeting which is due to open next Wednesday will be extremely important.

"I am not making optimistic predictions about its success, but I could make pessimistic predictions about its failure," he said.

Kennedy made it clear that the United States looks to the opportunity for high level discussions at Geneva not only on general disarmament and on nuclear weapons test ban negotiations but also on other problems, including Berlin and the conflict in Southeast Asia.

"Anything that can ease relations or anything that can improve the situation in Berlin or in Southeast Asia, of course, ought to be talked about," he said. "That is quite obvious and we should not miss any opportunity."

He said that American negotiators at Geneva, to be headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, will have specific suggestions to make on international inspection arrangements. These would be necessary, in the Western view, to safeguard any agreement which could be reached on a treaty prohibiting nuclear weapons tests. He declined to say what the proposals would be.

$1.12 Million Allocated for County Fund

LISBON — The Columbiana County Budget Commission has allocated a total of $1,119,045 for the county general fund this year, about $10,000 less than in 1961.

The report of the commission, comprised of Auditor Kenneth Bell, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw and Treasurer Vincent C. Judge, shows an unencumbered balance of $59,814 in the general fund this year. Bell had predicted a balance of only $10,000.

The balance last year was $127,709. The 1961 fund total was $1,129,327.

Rex Reich, clerk of the board of commissioners, is reviewing 1962 departmental budget requests, apportioning additional funds to offices whose allocations were cut about 15 per cent this year.

The commissioners must approve the allocations.

FINED AT LISBON

LISBON — Henry (Bud) Dillinger of Saltwell Rd., Lisbon, was fined $90 and costs Wednesday by Mayor Dean Stockman on three charges—$15 and costs for intoxication and disturbing the peace; $25 and costs for resisting arrest; and $50 and costs for assault and battery. He was arrested by police Saturday night.

Hoping for New Legislation

President Coddles Congress for Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, an old hand at legislative business, is all but coddling Congress in the evident belief that is the way to get a respectable amount of the new laws he wants.

The President, who served both in the House and Senate, was unruffled Wednesday when a reporter suggested at a news conference that in its first two months Congress hasn't accomplished much.

Kennedy replied he was always reading about this time of the year that Congress was doing little. He recalled that last year no bills had been passed by early March but the session wound up by turning out 30 measures he catalogued as major.

Salem Driver Hurt In One Of 4 Mishaps

Clyde A. Brown, 23, of the Benton Rd., RD 1, Salem, suffered a bruised left knee in one of four traffic mishaps on area highways Wednesday.

All four accidents occurred in the morning before the ice and snow accumulation from the previous day melted off the highways.

Brown was hurt in a three-vehicle crash on Rt. 30, one and one-half miles east of Lisbon, at 9:40 a.m.

According to the Ohio Highway Patrol, Brown had slowed to make a right turn when his car was struck from the rear by a tractor-trailer operated by James L. Hostman, 21, of RD 3, Salem. The impact knocked Brown's car off the right side of the road. The truck jackknifed across the highway.

The tractor-trailer was then struck by a car driven by Mildred P. Johnson, 50, of East Liverpool. She and the truck driver escaped injury. Brown was treated by a doctor for his knee injury. Hostman was cited for reckless operation.

Cars operated by Sue Kay Keller, 22, of 541 N. Lincoln Ave., Salem, and Thomas E. Smith, 58, of Lisbon, were involved in an accident on Rt. 45, four miles north of Lisbon, at 8 a.m.

The Patrol said Smith was backing his car down a hill which he was unable to negotiate because of icy pavement. The Salem woman attempted to go around Smith but clipped the front of his car, the Patrol reported.

Fanchon Buchman, 55, of East Palestine, was cited for driving left of center after his car went out of control and struck a truck operated by Paul Dishong, 39, of Warren, at 9:15 a.m. on Rt. 14, about one-half mile east of Rt. 7.

Three cars tangled on an icy section of Rt. 7, about two miles southwest of East Liverpool, at 6:55 a.m.

Robert D. Smith, 41, of East Liverpool, attempted to slow down to make a turn, the Patrol said, when his car skidded and blocked er suggested at a news conference that in its first two months Congress hasn't accomplished much.

Kennedy replied he was always reading about this time of the year that Congress was doing little. He recalled that last year no bills had been passed by early March but the session wound up by turning out 30 measures he catalogued as major.

"I think that legislation is going to come really pouring out of these committees in the next month or two months," he said. "So I don't have any criticism at all of the pace of the Congress."

"The test would be whether the legislation which involves not only the well-being of a great many Americans—such as medical care for the aged—but also those pieces of legislation which will help us fight the next economic downturn will be passed."

Kennedy, who obviously knows as well as anyone the difficulties that lie ahead for such proposals, threw in a sweetener with the remark that he hopes Congress "will consider those very carefully, or their alternatives."

At this point the alternatives seem to be just as tightly stalled as his own plan to link medical care for the elderly to Social Security. There aren't even any direct alternatives offered for his request for standby authority to cut taxes and to trigger a $2-billion public works program if a recession threatens.

But the President appeared likely to win a victory with expected speedy approval by both

13 Persons Killed In Italy Train Mishap

CASTEL BOLOGNESE, Italy (AP)—An express train crowded with immigrants from impoverished southern Italy raced into a detour and jumped the tracks near this north Italian village before dawn today, killing 13 persons and injuring 120.

Apparently all the victims were Italians.

Railroad officials said the train should have been traveling at 18 miles an hour but instead was making 55. Police arrested the motorman and his assistant for questioning. The motorman was slightly injured.

Seven hours after the crash transformed the train into a twisted mass of wreckage, rescuers said they thought they had recovered all the injured and dead. Many of the injured were in grave condition.

The 10-car express was traveling from Lecce and Bari in the

23 Communists Reported Killed In S. Viet Nam

Government Troops Continue To Drive Reds From Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —South Vietnamese forces reported 23 Communist guerrillas were killed today in one operation near the southern tip of Viet Nam. Authorities feared another concentration of Red fighters had evaded 1,500 government troops chasing them in the Mekong River delta.

In the latter operation, in Kien Hoa Province near the China Sea, a U.S. Army helicopter flying supplies was down with engine trouble in a remote region heavily infested with guerrillas. But government troops threw a protective cordon around it and the military command in Saigon hoped to send in a replacement engine.

The government success was reported from the Dam Doi district of an Xuyen Province, near the village of Anp Tan Long, where the Reds wiped out local defenses a week ago, killing 24 defenders of an outpost and capturing 40 others.

U.S. helicopters had airlifted several battalions of troops to the area, and they made contact with the Viet Cong today.

In the Kien Hoa operation President Ngo Dinh Diem threw five battalions in to flush out a Viet Cong stronghold where a company of government rangers was wiped out in an ambush Tuesday. A military source said earlier that the guerrillas appeared to have begun a big push and that a major battle was raging, but the word today was that the Viet Cong had taken refuge in a vast mangrove swamp along the coast.

A third major government operation was to have been launched by helicopter lift today in the southernmost province, but it was called off because of poor flying weather.

The Viet Cong has been attacking on several fronts, and combined government and Communist casualties during the past 12 days were estimated at more than 1,000. Of seven major engagements reported so far, the guerrillas apparently came off best in four.

Columbiana County Schools In Session

Columbiana County rural schools and Lisbon public schools were back in session today after being closed two days because of the impassable condition of secondary roads due to the heavy snowfall.

All school buses ran on schedule.

Salem public schools re-opened yesterday after being closed Tuesday because of the 13-inch snowfall.

Leetonia Studies Fire Bids, OK's Fund Bill

LEETONIA — Village Council, at its regular meeting Wednesday night, adopted the annual appropriation ordinance and studied 17 bids received for construction of the community's new fire station.

The appropriation for 1962 totals $151,952.71—an increase of about $10,000 over last year.

The fire station bids were broke down as follows:

There are three bids for electric work, five for plumbing, six for heating and two for over-all construction. Ed Susany of Petersburg was the apparent low bidder for the building at $29,125; electric at $1,850 and heating, $1,800.

H. M. Allison of Salem submitted a low bid for plumbing at $1,247. The total amount of the low bid comes to $34,022.

A special Council meeting will be called, to award the contracts.

Village receipts were reported as follows: Parking meters, $147.75; mayor's report for February, fines and violations, $104.80; licenses, $368, and operating levy settlement by county, $1,780.

An advance check from property taxes was received, totaling $3,900. The breakdown on this amount is: General fund $670; bond retirement, $700; operating levy, $1,780; police pension, $130, and street lights, $620.

Street Commissioner Richard Kleinknecht was authorized to buy four tires for the street grader.

Steel Parley Will Resume

Kennedy Asks For Early Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy chalked up a victory today in getting suspended steel labor talks scheduled again—with a fresh reminder the public interest requires an early settlement consistent with price stability.

The major steel companies quickly agreed with Kennedy's call at his news conference Wednesday for the deadlocked bargaining to resume by next Wednesday. The United Steelworkers Union said it will comply. Presumably the resumed talks will be at Pittsburgh, as before.

The steel negotiations collapsed last Friday night with both the industry and union saying they were still far apart on an agreement for terms to succeed the labor contracts due to expire next June 30.

Kennedy made public telegrams he sent to both sides saying he appreciated their early start on negotiations this year but regretted that the 2½ weeks of talks already conducted had failed to produce an agreement despite mutual earnestness and good will.

The President in his messages reiterated that the national interest requires a prompt and non-inflationary settlement. He said he was sure the entire country shares the conviction such an agreement would materially aid the entire economy.

It is reported that when the negotiations broke off last week the industry had offered benefits valued at 6 to 8 cents an hour while the union was holding out for a 12-cent package.

The 430,000 basic steel workers now average $3.28 an hour earnings, but other benefits boost employment costs beyond $4 an hour.

Driver Cited In One of 3 Mishaps

A Salem area driver was arrested following one of three traffic mishaps in the city Wednesday and this morning. There were no injuries.

Russell L. Toot, 53, of the Pine Lake Rd., RD 1, Salem, was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after he ran into the rear of a car operated by Richard D. Walters, 28, of Massillon at the intersection of W State St. and the Benton Rd. at 4:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Toot was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean B. Cramer.

Two trucks collided in South Alley, 260 feet south of S. Broadway, at 1:56 p.m. Wednesday. Police said Nick S. Buta, 58, of 1419 N. Ellsworth Ave., backed into the front of a truck operated by John Cibula, 25, of RD 4, Salem. Both vehicles were damaged.

High Tides Batter East Coast

29 Persons Dead As Storm Rages

By The Associated Press

Coastal areas of seven mid-Atlantic states, many already in ruins from a record winter storm, felt again Wednesday the hammer blows of extra-high tides turned into mountainous waves by violent winds.

At least 29 persons were reported dead along the battered and flooded shoreline from North Carolina to New York. New England escaped major damage as the storm's fury veered out to sea.

Some more high tides and gale force winds were expected for today but, it was hoped nothing to approach those of the past two days.

"It looks like a lumber yard from here (Ocean City, Md.) to Rehoboth Beach (Del.)," said a state police commander of Maryland's Eastern Shore. Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes has wired President Kennedy asking that the region be declared a disaster area. Most of the 1,000 residents of the resort of Ocean City fled their shattered homes.

At Bowers, Del., five children from one family were swept to their deaths by flood waters, and two persons still were missing.

Delaware Gov. Elbert N. Carvel estimated damage at $50 million and he, too, has asked Kennedy to declare his state's coastline a disaster area.

"I don't think the hurricane of 1954 was anything like this," said Gov. Carvel.

Virginia had seven known storm deaths, with damage estimates placed in the many millions.

In all the stricken areas, electric, gas and telephone services were knocked out.

At Wallops Island, off the Virginia coast, high waters caused severe damage to electronic

Jackie Leaves On Pakistan, India Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy flies to New York today on the first leg of a more than 15,000-mile journey to make a semi-official visit to India and Pakistan.

President Kennedy plans to bid his wife bon voyage as she takes off from National Airport aboard the Kennedy family plane.

Mrs. Kennedy decided to say goodbye to her two youngsters at the White House, instead of at the airport as first had been indicated.

White House sources said Caroline, 4, and John Jr., 15 months, will fly to Florida Friday with their father and spend a week at Palm Beach visiting with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy will be in New York overnight at the Carlyle Hotel where she will join her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill of London, who will be her traveling companion. The White House has given out no information on Mrs. Kennedy's plans for her New York stopover.

The First Lady's entourage leaves late Friday from New York's Idlewild Airport for a commercial jet plane flight to Rome, en route to New Delhi.

Mrs. Kennedy will spend this weekend in Rome. Tea with Italy's President Giovanni Gronchi and an audience with Pope John XXIII are on her schedule there.

Officially, she starts her visit to India at New Delhi on Monday.

U.S. Came Out Ahead In Deal, Kennedy Says

20 Per Cent Slash Agreed Upon For Most Products

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and 24 other nations have agreed to chop about 20 per cent from tariffs on a wide range of items—from automobiles to Scotch whisky. And U. S. officials said America came out ahead 4 to 3 in the deal.

First reaction to the agreement—which President Kennedy termed highly advantageous to the United States—was favorable. U. S. automakers generally viewed it as a step in the right direction and a spokesman for the European Common Market said "This is a first step toward world liberalization and we must rejoice about it."

Most of the reciprocal tariff cuts will involve the United States and Western Europe's industrial countries. While the reduction on most items will be 20 per cent, in a few cases they range up to 26 per cent.

On the list of major items affected are new automobiles, chemicals, drugs, electrical and industrial machinery, textiles, Scotch whisky, canned fruits, some steel products and glassware.

The United States claims it came out ahead 4 to 3 by figuring this way: The U.S. tariff reductions will involve $1.2 billion of imports from the other 24 nations, while they have agreed to cut levies on $1.6 billion of U.S. goods. The figures were based on world trade in 1960.

President Kennedy told Congress Wednesday, in announcing the agreement, that in order to forestall a threatened collapse in negotiations, he agreed last September to lowering certain U.S. tariffs below the levels the Tariff

Peace Talks In Algeria Progressing

EVIAN, France (AP)—The new Algerian peace talks are reported going well so far with no serious obstacles as yet arising to block agreement on a cease-fire and eventual independence for the strife-torn North African territory.

The French and Algerian rebel delegations met again this morning for the second day of renewed peace talks which are expected to end the 7½-year Algerian rebellion and ring down 131 years of French domination over the territory.

Swiss helicopters ferried Belkacem Krim, rebel deputy premier, and his delegation from their base in neutral Switzerland to this French Alpine resort town. Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe headed the French team bargaining over the green-topped table in the Hotel Du Parc.

The negotiators worked in secrecy behind a heavy French security guard in the tan stucco hotel overlooking Lake Geneva. Both sides agreed to make no public comment for fear of further inflaming partisan emotions in Algeria.

Officials in Paris indicated that announcement of a cease-fire was expected between March 15 and

But Evidence Against It

People Hoping For Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's been a grim seven days.

The heart gets the better of the head when the mind stops merely hoping and, in the face of dubious evidence, begins expecting.

No doubt many people here and elsewhere, because they hope for it so much, have let themselves begin to expect the United States and Russia will agree in the next few weeks to ban nuclear tests.

The evidence is against them. The two nations, in all their dickering since the war, have been unable to agree on any kind of disarmament.

There is no solid reason for believing it will be any different at the 17-nation disarmament talks which start in Geneva March 14.

And in the past seven days neither President Kennedy nor Premier Khrushchev has said anything to raise expectations.

Kennedy himself expressed hope at his news conference Wednesday—he said hope for success is in the interest of the world—but he made a clear distinction between hoping and expecting.

He declined to line up on the side of expectation.

In the past seven days Kennedy told the nation the United States will resume testing; Khrushchev wrote a letter to Kennedy; and Wednesday Kennedy had a news conference.

What was grim was buried deep in what they said—hardly more than a few phrases—but it was still ominously clear enough to make those seven days remembered perhaps as somberly as anything in recent history.

Kennedy had waited six months, since the Russians resumed testing last fall, to get the opinion of his advisers on whether this country also needed to test in the atmosphere now to stay ahead of the Soviets.

Last Friday night he said the tests would begin by the end of April unless before then Russia agreed to a nuclear test ban which included an inspection system to prevent cheating.

This didn't leave even much hope for an agreement since Khrushchev has consistently rejected an inspection system as part of a test ban agreement. Kennedy said this country wouldn't agree without it.

He said more: "If they persist in rejecting all means of true inspection, then we shall be left with no choice but to keep our own defensive arsenals adequate for the security of all free men."

And he said this country cannot keep its scientific momentum and leadership if its "weapons progress is limited to theory or the confines of laboratories and caves."

You can read into this a warning that if we test now, and then the Russians test, we will have to test again. This could go on endlessly.

Khrushchev, after complaining in his letter that the disarmament talks should begin with a summit conference instead of just a foreign ministers meeting, didn't express any hope, either. The best he could say about the foreign ministers was "let us wish them success."

Then came his grim touch, confirming the suggestion in Kennedy's talk that if we test the Russians will probably test. Khrushchev said:

"If the United States tests, the 'Soviet Union will be faced with the need to hold tests of new types, as might be required.'"

Then Wednesday Kennedy was asked if the world is "justified" in attaching to the Geneva talks any "particular hope or expectations these negotiations" will be more fruitful than others that went before.

"Hope," Kennedy said, "should certainly be attached. Expectations are another matter. I am not making optimistic predictions about its success."

Can't Trust a Cat

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you ever been adopted by a cat? If you haven't, you have missed an experience in life which is unusual and, on the whole, rather flattering.

For nearly four years the cat in our house, Lady Dottie, put up with me with majestic indifference. In the hierarchy of her interests I rated slightly above the laundryman, but far below the butcher's delivery boy.

Lately, for no apparent reason, all that changed. Lady Dottie seems to have a crush on me. I have become her No. 1 pinup boy. In the morning she walks to the door and watches wistfully while I get into the elevator that whisks me out of her world.

At night when I return she rubs against my legs and gives a plaintive mew, as if to say, "Where have you been?"

When I stretch out on the sofa with the evening paper, Lady Dottie curls up at my side. Occasionally I read her an editorial, and she turns on her interior dynamo and emits a soft feline rumbling—one of the most contented sounds in nature.

Now and then I reach down and absent-mindedly stroke her satin sides, and she arches her head and gives me a look of coquettish gratification.

Lady Dottie formerly cared little whether I stayed or strayed. Now she smoothes me with affection, and has become something of a showoff to gain my attention and approval.

She brings me her favorite catnip mouse and drops it in my lap in a wordless gesture that says, "Nothing is to good for you, big boy."

The other members of my family became a bit put out by Lady Dottie's belated fondness for me, and—I suspect—a bit jealous.

"Maybe she's just sick and doesn't know what she's doing," suggested my small daughter, helpfully.

"Well, it all started about two weeks ago," I recalled. "I remember reading aloud an item from the newspaper, and Lady Dottie came right over and leaped upon my lap."

"What was the item about?" asked my wife.

"It was about a rich old lady who died and left $50,000 to her cat," I replied.

"That solves the mystery," said my wife. "Lady Dottie is simply trying to get you to mention her in your will."

How do you like that? You can't trust even a cat—let alone women.

All either of them think about is how to separate a man from his money.

TO PRESENT PROGRAMS

LISBON — A program on making salads will be presented by the Beaver Local Home Demonstration Group Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Wilmer Webber, Calcutta-Cannon Mills Road. Mrs. Webber and Mrs. Emma Bomberger will be the leaders.

A similar program will be presented by the Franklin Township Home Demonstration group Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ella Speirs of Summitville. Mrs. Gerry McPherson and Mrs. Cora M. Traffinger are the leaders, according to Miss Julia Shank, county extension agent in home economics.

Julius, duke of Brunswick-Luneburg, who owned the rich Harz Mountains silver mines in northern Germany, issued large silver coins weighing up to 10 ounces. One carried his coat of arms, which depicts the famed wildman of Brunswick grasping an uprooted tree.

News of Interest to Farmers

Dairy Honor Awards Given

Four dairy farmers and eight dairy testing supervisors received plaques here today for outstanding work in their respective fields.

The dairy farmers were honored for their records in milk production; their feeding, breeding and participation in community activities. The supervisors won recognition for their overall efficiency in collecting and compiling testing data.

One dairy farmer and two supervisors from each of four districts received plaques from the National Dairy Products Corporation of New York. Forty other farmers, designated as county winners in Ohio's Efficient Dairy Awards Program, were presented certificates by the Ohio dairyman's Association.

The award-winning farmers and the districts they represented were:

Koerner Brothers, Edgerton, Northwest District; Griesheimer Brothers, Valley City, Northeast District; Hann Brothers, McConelsville, Southeast District; and Marv and Herman Hines, Circleville, Southwest District.

Supervisors receiving awards were:

Northeast District — Cornell Starr, Medina; and Dean Ray Miller, Millersburg.

The Koerner Brothers, Joseph and Robert, maintained a milking herd of about 100 Holsteins on their 640-acre farm. Last year the herd produced nearly 1½ million pounds of milk, averaging 15,056 pounds of milk and 559 pounds of butterfat per cow.

The Griesheimer Brothers, Raymond and Robert, have a Brown Swiss herd, maintaining about 80 cows with a milking herd of 41 cows. Last year the herd averaged 13,762 pounds of milk and 621 pounds of milk, the milking herd numbers about 46 head, and last year the herd's average production was 9,859 pounds of milk and 466 pounds of butterfat per cow. There are 278 acres in the farm. The Hines operation includes 85

Holsteins and Jerseys, with 44 cows in the milking herd. Last year the herd produced more than 417,000 pounds of milk, the herd average in 1960 was 11,302 pounds of milk and 482 pounds of butterfat per cow. The farm includes 161 acres, with 45 acres devoted to grain crops, 55 acres to meadow crops, and 20 acres to pasture.

The average American man's weight is up from 160 pounds in 1900 to an average of 165. Women also have gained five pounds, to reach an average of 127.

Man on Moon Means Business

A foreign ministers' meeting at Geneva on disarmament now is certainly.

There has been so much talk about disarmament that no one really takes it seriously. But this time the talk might mean something. Something has happened.

The difference could be the man-on-the-moon program.

The United States and the Soviet Union are both committed to go all-out in a space race, with the colonization of the moon as a primary target.

It will be a vastly expensive program for both nations.

It will entail spending of a magnitude vast enough to offset the kind of cutback in armament that would represent genuine disarmament. Until something like a moon-shot came along, no government with a heavy arms program could think of the possibility of disarmament without going into preliminary shock over the economic consequences.

THE FAVORITE argument of advocates of disarmament has been that the large amounts of money saved would be diverted to such constructive purposes as building more and better hospitals, more and better roads, more and better public buildings, more and better everything constructive that came to mind.

But in actual practice it wouldn't work that way.

Only military spending ever gives Congress the impulse to make lavish appropriations; all other forms of spending are viewed with skepticism.

A drastic cutback in appropriations for tools of destruction which either are destroyed in use, made obsolete by improvements, or filtered down to lesser powers for their "protection," would put the nation into a tailspin. Every armament supplier in the country would be laying off employees.

Something else would have to be invented post-haste to take up the slack. There would be a post-armament slump of gigantic proportions—unless something as big as armament could justify the huge federal appropriations that now wag the American economic dog.

THE MAN ON THE MOON project could be the way out of the armament dilemma for the two world leaders in a contest neither can win and both might lose.

Neither the United States nor the Soviet Union can afford to compete in an armament race and a moon-shot race at the same time.

Both may be looking for a way to call off the armament race, which is old stuff, so they can put everything they have into a moon-shot race, the newest race there is—competition to be first in space.

No End of Questions

To the best knowledge of a board of questioners appointed to probe the incident that caused Francis Gary Powers and his U2 plane to fall into Russian hands in 1961, the aviator has nothing to be ashamed of officially.

There will be, of course, no end of questions in the minds of his critics, who will continue to be certain that he never should have let himself and his plane be captured.

These people are certain of many things about the U2 incident that shocked us all in 1960—sure that the United States shouldn't have been spying on Russian territory from high-altitude planes, sure that the Powers mission shouldn't have been flown on the eve of an international conference, sure that the young aviator should have killed himself, sure that somebody must have done something wrong, sure that the United States never should have been embarrassed by the U2 incident.

Everything depends on how the incident is viewed.

Some of us were not embarrassed. We were glad to know U2 flights had been commonplace; that the Powers mishap was the first failure in a successful project of espionage that had been going on for years.

Some of us were not distraught because Powers had not destroyed himself. We doubted that critics who screamed he should have taken his own life would have taken theirs, and we felt we should be courteous enough to a fellow countryman to wait until his side of the story had been told back home.

He has been telling it for weeks to a board of health. Belatedly, some of his wilder critics now should cool down and do likewise. When Powers reads some of their slanders—if he ever gets around to them—he might want to punch some of them in the nose to see if their hearts are as big as their mouths.

This Could Be 'Litigious'

It is easy enough to follow the U.S. Supreme Court's reasoning that property owners who must move from the vicinity of airports have a claim for damages. The seven members who voted with the majority on this precedent-setting decision were thinking about the individual rights of owners whose equities have been damaged.

So much for compassion.

But what every private and public owner of an airport is thinking about in the wake of the decision is how to grapple with an endless succession of claims that people are being driven from their homes by planes approaching and leaving airports.

Sensitivity to noise is a relative condition

Woe Is Alliance

No community envies the city of Alliance which is trying to dispose of a "white elephant" in its downtown section. Up for sale is the city-owned Minit Park Building which was erected in Alliance in 1954 at a cost of $81,994.87.

In its first full year of operation in 1956 the parking lift structure lost $1,012. Operating loss in '57 was $4,809; in '58 at was $2,472, the next year it climbed to $4,288 and in 1960 to $4,785 and last year it climbed to $4,840. Over-all, lost operational costs are $22,210, not counting bonds principal and interest, and a $95,000 bond debt still remains.

Salem's off-street parking lots and well-patronized downtown business district look mighty comforting by comparison.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Telecasting of a Broadway production to a theater miles away simultaneously with stage performance may forecast time when hit musicals, comedies and dramas will be "pumped" from Broadway to theaters and auditoriums in numerous cities. Theater of tomorrow may be airborne. It may be easier and less of a strain for playgoer half way across country to see a New York show than for a New York to do it.

In some respects a fellow in Hoosick Falls or Hollyhock Hills could get all the best of it. No frenzied battle for tickets, no traffic jams, no latecomers stepping all over him in middle of first act and no theater orangeade at 35 cents a gill!

Will it ultimately mean telecasting of Broadway shows direct into homes via coin in slot? Will the day come when you can "attend" an opening night in your stocking feet and bathrobe lying on a couch?

Question "Seen any good Broadway plays lately?" may one day be answered with "No; a tube of my TV set blew out." Effect on actors and actresses would be interesting to observe. They may "ham it up" beyond all reason if they know they are not appearing merely before one theater audience but before audiences in dozens of cities. Will it mark the disappearance of the "trouper"? Why those train trips if he or she can "play the road" by outdoor aerial? Curtain (coast to coast) going up!

War against bulldozer is busting out all over. Cities seem at last aroused by "murder incorporated" as applied to sturdy homes, historic landmarks and public buildings of great beauty. "The bulldozer will get you if you don't watch out," has been general warning for last few years. Iron monster has been blitting fine homes and skyscrapers, more durable than their replacements, with a "hey, nonny nonny and a hot blueprint for redevelopment." It's now being realized that many of buildings slated for destruction can be remodeled at far less expense and without subjecting tenants to constant fear they will be scooped up by a steam shovel.

I Have a Feeling We're Not Alone

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

A fellow I once hit when he attempted—successfully—to keep me from covering a Communist parley in New York, has distinguished himself a second time. In Berlin the other day he thundered across "The Wall": "Go to Hell, Little Monster."

Victor Riesel
"Little Baggy Pants," we called him—now chief Brain washer for all East Germany. When I slugged him, he was the "Comintern rep"—top political Moscow agent in the United States.

That was some time ago. Today he is assigned by his Soviet chiefs to a new supercharged anti-American campaign to be directed out of East Berlin.

"Little Baggy Pants" is bright. He dubbed Bob Kennedy a monster because of the attorney general's distaste for the leadership of the U.S. Teamsters. But there was another reason—as volatile as it is significant in today's not so cold war.

Eisler, one of the world's shrewdest propagandists was disturbed by the respect West Berliners exhibited for the fast-moving symbol of America in the besieged city.

WHAT IRRITATED the Soviets was the positive evidence the American group brought—beyond just promises—that we will be in West Berlin for a long time.

During his short stay this side of "The Wall," for example, Bob Kennedy visited a firm called Auer Gesellschaft. This company turns out the most modern of mine safety devices. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Mine Safety Appliances Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé and I are having a disagreement and we want you to settle it before we marry.

Clyde comes from a well-to-do family. The most casual dinner at their home is like a state occasion. They always use fancy linen, good silver and the works.

I was brought up in a middle-class family. My mother had to do all her own work so we cut a few corners here and there. Sometimes we used paper napkins, skipped bread and butter plates, and so on.

Clyde has had dinner at our home several times and we've never tried to put on the dog. He has seen us as we are.

Now he had made a few "suggestions" for OUR home when we marry. He has asked me not to put catsup bottles, jelly jars or sour cream cartons on the table.

I say this is ridiculous. Putting such things in dishes and on plates makes extra work and the food doesn't taste one bit better. In fact a pickle right out of the jar can't be beat.

We have agreed to let you settle it. If you do your own dishes,

The American firm bought the German unit in 1958. At that time business was almost as bad as Khrushchev's temper. It needed capital investment. The Pittsburgh people came in. They modernized a little. They made a few U.S. efficiency adjustments.

This took time. Chairman Khrushchev was putting the heat on the city. But today employment is up 36 per cent. Sales are up 50 per cent. Now 1,000 workers earn their daily bread there. They all downed tools and came to surround the American envoy.

They stood on tables and cheered the United States—especially the promise that the United States was there to stay and the obvious implication that American capital did not fear investing in Berlin, 100 miles behind the Iron border.

BOB KENNEDY'S visit also came at the moment the Soviets are pushing their new undercover drive to infiltrate West Germany's and West Berlin's unions. These have recently abandoned their traditionally Marxist collectivist policies.

So "Little Baggy Pants" did not exactly do handstands when his agents told him that one evening at six o'clock Bob Kennedy and party had dropped informally into Hardtke's restaurant. They had come for beer and swapping of questions an answers with the West Berlin labor chiefs.

Nor did Comrade Eisler's head-aches end with the departure of "The Little Monster." There is to be another public confrontation on the political battleground the Soviet's prefer the least. That's on the labor front.

I dined in New York the other night with a gentle voiced global fighter in this arena. He is Omer Becu, general secretary—which means leader—of a world organization little known outside the byways of labor people. This is the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

MR. BECU is an old transport worker himself. As we talked of Khrushchev's global apparatus, Mr. Becu told me his organization would begin meeting in West Berlin this coming July 2. On July 5, Becu and his colleagues will officially open the Seventh Congress of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, almost in the lurking shadows of "The Wall." Free men from free unions from every continent will make up the three to four hundred delegates.

President John Kennedy could do lots worse than spend July Fourth in Berlin so he can open the Seventh Congress there the next day. It speaks for 55 million people in some 75 lands. Nor are their leaders frightened of the Soviet Goliath. Becu said the other day:

"The free trade unions are again confronted by an enemy, perhaps even more dangerous than the Nazi-Fascist armies which sought to impose their dictatorship over the free world.

"I say that this is a more dangerous enemy because he knows how to smile while he subverts, how to look pleasant while he explodes nuclear bombs, how to promise peace while he threatens war and engages in undeclared wars and how to speak in the sweet accents of freedom while he blights that freedom wherever he is."

This theme, this paean of freedom, will be repeated and rebroadcast from the congress hall in West Berlin. The United States has pledged that West Berlin will be free for such talk by free men for many, many Julys to come.

It sounds like a very hot summer for "Little Baggy Pants"—hotter than we made it for him in New York away back then.

Confusing Exchange

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Controls Needed, Not Destruction of Arms

Exchanges of messages between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev are serving only to confuse more and more the issue involved in trying to abolish nuclear war by international agreement.

For the tragic truth about the utter impossibility of assuring safety through so-called disarmament agreements has not been revealed to the world. President Kennedy's statement, for instance, that he will offer at the forthcoming Geneva Conference "a series of concrete plans for a major 'breakthrough to peace'" is in itself likely to raise false hopes.

The President says he will include "specific proposals for fair and enforceable agreements to halt the production of fissionable materials and nuclear weapons and their transfer to other nations." This in itself can be done. Halting further production, however, is meaningless because the stockpiles are already massive in quantity.

Mr. Kennedy also proposes "to destroy the warheads and the delivery systems that threaten man's existence." This cannot really be accomplished because fissionable materials cannot be destroyed. Some scientists a few years ago proposed that the material could be "denatured" by mixing it with another element to make it unsuitable for use in weapons, but subsequently it was discovered that any such impurities could be removed.

As to the destruction of delivery systems, "this, too, raises false hopes. As a matter of fact, atomic weapons today are so light and so small that they can be carried by almost any kind of plane. Even passenger planes can carry them.

To say, therefore, that all delivery systems would be destroyed goes beyond what is reasonable or feasible.

President Kennedy's proposal that 'warheads' be 'destroyed' is a sequel to the recommendation made by President Eisenhower in 1953 that eventually all weapons should be "cannibalized" so as to extract from them all the fissionable material that might be useful for peaceful purposes. But in the intervening nine years so much fissionable material has been accumulated by both the United States and the Soviet Union—so much more than is currently required for peaceful uses—that the commodity itself cannot be readily and permanently disposed of. Even if it were sunk in the ocean secretly, it could be recovered.

INDEED, if the fissionable materials were kept in a form that is not immediately useable for weapons, they could be converted back to full weapon use within a period of only a few weeks.

This all adds up to the fact that the power to destroy by means of nuclear weapons cannot be nullified merely by non-use or by destroying warheads or weapons systems or by converting fissionable materials to peaceful uses.

It seems to have been overlooked, also, that if any major nation like the United States accepted restrictions that would for a little while render it weak, the nation with the largest conventional forces could suddenly attack and capture the stockpiles of fissionable materials.

To turn over to the United Nations all nuclear weapons or materials wouldn't solve the problem either. The U.N. itself is subject to the whims of a majority which can be dominated by one or another of the major powers.

The President's whole case is based on the assumption that an agreement can be made with the Soviets which would permit periodic inspection by the other side, and that there is some way to keep watch inside Russia by some international system of constant observation.

In times like the present, when minutes count, the prospect is not bright that quick action by an inspection group could be depended upon, especially since the Soviets have managed to entangle every written agreement they have ever made with a cumbersome mechanism of so-called "enforcement."

IT ISN'T POSSIBLE to day to deprive peoples everywhere of the ingredients of gunpowder or dynamite. Nor is crime prevented in American cities by limiting the sale of guns, large or small, to persons of peaceful purpose, including those engaged in hunting game.

The key to preventing war lies not in the destruction of weapons, but in the controls placed upon those human beings who might be likely to pull the trigger.

This means that democracy and freedom must be established wherever autocracy or dictatorship exists today. Ways and means of concerting the will of peoples need far more attention than international conferences which pursue with the dictators themselves a fruitless purpose—agreements that are not worth the paper on which they are written.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

I think I could learn to live with snow on good terms if the stuff stayed with us long enough so we quit having an impulse to rearrange it. I recall a description of spring in New England as "that season when the snow finally goes away and people get their feet on the ground again."

A funny suggestion from a very funny man is Art Buchwald's proposal for redistributing Communists in the United States so every community will have at least one Communist for anti-Communist fighters to fight.

It appears to me we're late this year with blasts against unmentionable public officials who carelessly let the bottoms fall out of roads they rebuild each summer with black pie crust or something about that tough because otherwise the so-and-sos would be chastised for wasting our money.

I want a summit conference, because I know no other way for our Mr. Kennedy and their Mr. Khrushchev to agree that an armament contest on top of space exploration is too much of a good thing and the latter now is expensive and extensive enough to use up all the government-type hardware the taxpayers can afford to buy anyway.

This fellow I know who uses Lent to pry himself loose from indulgence in too much food and drink was eyeing the clock on Ash Wednesday and ticking off the hours by announcing, "Nine hours after takeoff an all systems still go."

Can this be the same Francis Gary Powers who was being hung up by the thumbs not long ago by 150 per cent patriots who second-guessed him from their safe armchairs and concluded he should be tried for treason, if he came home? By the way, whatever happened to these patriots?

I find it pretty funny that the best way to get attention in the United States is to walk somewhere, like the postman who walked to Washington. If you wanted to get close attention, I suppose the best bet would be to walk backward.

One of the most puzzling uncertainties in newspaper style is what to do about capitalism and Communism and-or communism. The capital C on Communism indicates it is an organization, whereas the lack of a capital C on capitalism means it is unorganized. Yet the two words frequently appear in the same sentence, and the impression is that Communism is being rated over capitalism because of the capital letter.

I was singularly unimpressed by a tobacco company's survey showing a less-than-average sickness rate among its employees, though they were heavier smokers of cigarettes than average. I think I may assume the company hires only people in good health, takes care of their health while they are on its payroll and pensions them at the end of the line. If they aren't healthier than the public in general, someone goofed.

The bird-watchers are still watching me, and I am beginning to see a connection, such as maybe they think I am a double-breasted seersucker, something you never see around here—like the great auk. I am sticking stoutly by my, er, guns, however, and using all my optical energy by watching girls. I can hardly wait for warm weather, when the girls moults.

President Kennedy had better learn to keep that right hand in his pocket, or he will have something easier for takeoff artists to make fun of than Harry Truman's stiff-arm.

What would television do if it weren't for people with unmanageable hair, bad odors and a yen for brew and tobacco?

Dinah Shore Files Suit for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dinah Shore says she wants a divorce. That's about all she does say. Her suit for divorce from actor George Montgomery was filed Tuesday. Her complaint was brief.

So was her press agent's announcement: "Miss Shore has filed for divorce. A property settlement has been reached, and an agreement has been made concerning custody of the children." The brief complaint charged Montgomery with mental cruelty, but gave no details.

It requested that the children—Melissa Ann, 14, and John David, 7—be placed in Miss Shore's custody, with Montgomery granted visitation rights.

Miss Shore's attorney said, "The couple has agreed to keep all the details private." Newsman couldn't locate Montgomery. Miss Shore was out of town.

The dearth of details from the principals didn't crimp speculation. Sample tidbits:

1. The property settlement will probably run into the millions. Miss Shore, 44, makes about $10,000 a week. Montgomery, 45, has been grinding out lucrative adventure films and has his own furniture factory. Their home near Beverly Hills is a half-million-dollar showplace.

2. If the suit is as dull as the complaint, Superior Court will be missing a spectacular show. The fan magazines have splashed stories linking Montgomery with starlets half his age. He and Miss Shore have denied any romances.

A quiet suit is planned. It will be in a downtown court in about a month, and predictions are that Miss Shore will explain the end to 18 years' marriage this way: career conflicts kept them apart. Beyond that—no comment.

Lisbon Schedules Day of Prayer Service

LISBON — The World Day of Prayer service will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Trinity Episcopal Church.

The speaker will be Mrs. Kenneth P. McCready of Youngstown. The theme for this year's service is "God So Loved the World." The following women will participate:

Mrs. L. S. Firestone of Trinity United Presbyterian, Miss Nellie Gillis of First Christian, Mrs. Eleanor Zeidler of the Nazarene, Mrs. Howard Wilhel of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ Evangelical and Reformed, Mrs. Frank Padurean of Madison Presbyterian, Mrs. S. D. Nold of

First Presbyterian, and Mrs. Ronald Milhoan of Elkton Methodist.

Mrs. Donald Lewis of the First Presbyterian Church will be the soloist, and Mrs. Kenneth Everett of the First Methodist Church will be organist. Mrs. William Brown of the First Methodist Church is chairman.

A prayer vigil beginning at 6 a.m., continuing until midnight will also be held at the Trinity Episcopal Church Friday in connection with the World Day of Prayer. Anyone wishing to participate may contact Mrs. Frank Adomitis or Mrs. Edwin Kauffman.

United Acts On Funds For School Year

United Local School District Board of Education adopted a $549,870.37 appropriation for 1962 when members met at the school this week.

The fund bill, which governs school operations for the year, is slightly above the 1961 appropriation, School Supt. Dale Gates said.

The current appropriation shows the following allocations:

General fund, $436,108.34; bond retirement, $72,948.94; cafeteria, $38,313.09; and Title 3, National Defense Act, $2,500.

The board passed a resolution to apply for approval for purchase of maps, science books and physics equipment under the National Defense Act in the amount of $1,200.

A motion was approved to ask dealers to submit bids by noon April 9 for two new 66-passenger school buses for replacement of two worn-out buses. Purchase of these buses is anticipated for use during the 1962-63 school year.

The board approved the attendance of Peter Marra, director of transportation, at a workshop on school bus transportation July 23 - 27 at Ohio University, and appointed Mr. Marra and George Dickson as substitute drivers.

Walter Blythe is president of the United Board of Education.

Book Club Has Program About Bible

"Points to Ponder in Religion" was chosen as program theme by Miss Mary Herbert when Bible Week was observed by the Book Club at a meeting Monday afternoon in the Ruth Smucker House.

Miss Herbert pointed out the need of religion and raising of the moral standards in this modern age. She presented the slogan, "Read the Bible Through in 1962."

Mrs. Z. R. Taylor spoke of the "Power of Specific Prayer," and outlined five basic kinds of prayer: adoration, confession, petition, intercession and thanksgiving.

"The Dead Sea Scrolls" was the subject of a review given by Mrs. J. S. Hollinger. She pointed out that scholars are saying the scrolls of the Old Testament may yet cast much light upon the New Testament and its conception of Christian faith.

Miss Caroline Hole, club roving reporter, read quotations from articles by John Foster Dulles, J. Edgar Hoover and William Lloyd Garrison.

Mrs. Marie C. Fawcett, Mrs. Roland Herron and Mrs. Curtis Vaughan a vocal trio, sang "Lift Thine Eyes to the Mountains," and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," accompanied by Mrs.

Donald Dusenberry.

Mrs. John England, president-elect, announced her program committee for the coming year. Mrs. J. C. Pottorf will be chairman, assisted by Miss Mary Herbert and Mrs. Frank Hoskin.

Other officers who will assume their duties in October are Mrs. Z. R. Taylor, first vice-president; Mrs. George Huston, second vice-president; Mrs. John R. King, secretary; Mrs. Fred Schramm, treasurer; Mrs. James Coss, assistant secretary; Mrs. Frank Hoskin, non-official, and Mrs. Glenn Bates, delegate to Salem Federation of Women's Clubs.

A joint meeting with the Leontonians will be at 8 p.m. March 14 at the Smucker House.

OPERAS PLANNED

CINCINNATI (AP)—Big names and operas rating high in popularity will feature a four-week, 20-performance season for the 1962 Cincinnati Summer Opera Festival June 20-July 15.

Two operas will be presented weekly, with performances nightly Wednesday through Sunday. Operas will include Aida and La traviata the first week; Carmen and Madame Butterfly the second week; Salome and Rigoletto, and La Boheme and Tosca to close the season.

Appraisers must examine diamonds in natural light away from the sun because they take on surrounding colors.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

New Book Explores Mind-Body

I want to call to the attention of all patients with chronic illness, but especially those with rheumatoid arthritis, a remarkable book by a remarkable doctor. The doctor is Loring T. Swaim, who has specialized for a half century in diseases of the bones and joints, and who is connected with every distinguished medical institution in his native Boston. The book is called "Arthritis, Medicine and the Spiritual Laws or the Power Beyond Science."

I must confess that I should never have read this book if I did not know Dr. Swaim and his work, and if I did not have complete confidence in the accuracy of his observations and the fidelity of his conclusions.

BRIEFLY AND inadequately stated, here is the kernel of Dr. Swaim's exposition:

As an interne, in 1912, he was impressed with visible evidence of the effect of the mind on the body. Both favorable and unfavorable.

In his work with patients suffering from rheumatoid arthritis at the Massachusetts General Hospital the Peer Bent Brigham Hospital and in private practice, using all approved methods, he became discouraged with his results. His patients did not improve as much as he felt they should and recurrences happened too frequently.

Recognized that some factor was missing, he was psychoanalyzed, hopeful that the new science might help him to help his patients. The results were disappointing to him, for he was left much the same as he was before. "I saw where change was needed but I didn't learn how to change," to use his own words. Through his wife, he became convinced that medical care must be supplemented by spiritual laws in order to effect a complete change in the patient's emotional and inner nature.

TO EFFECT THIS change, he fed his patients in two-way prayer "to an understanding of God as a reality, not just a Power. He taught them, not just how to ask for what they wanted, but also how to listen to find out what God wanted and to accept His wisdom and guidance."

Where he was successful in conveying his spirituality to his patients, the disease "definitely improved in those who went the whole way. The active disease actually subsided and remained quiescent for unusually long periods of time. If any activity did recur . . . the recurrence was of shorter duration and less severe."

In recommending this book so wholeheartedly, I am well aware of the fatuous criticisms that will come from scoffers.

I am also aware of the difficulties and disappointments that will be suffered by those who, because of their lesser stature, may be unable to duplicate Dr. Swaim's results.

But I believe that none will read this inspiring book without sensing the spiritual enlightenment of the author and his patient-friends.

The Eider Canal — opened through the Danish-ruled duchies of Schleswig and Holstein in 1784—was the first of the world's great canals.

Deaths and Funerals

Herbert Funeral

Graveside services for Scott G. Herbert, 81, a former Salem resident who died of complications at a West Palm Beach, Fla., hospital Monday, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at Grandview Cemetery. Rev. Harold Winn, pastor of the First Friends Church, will officiate.

Calling hours will be Friday evening at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home.

Born near Lisbon, July 25, 1880, Mr. Herbert lived in Salem until he moved to Florida 10 years ago. He had been employed as a pattern maker by the Electric Furnace Co.

Two sisters, Miss Maude Herbert and Miss Mary Herbert, live on N. Lincoln Ave.

Mr. Herbert was a member of the First Church of God at West Palm and the Perry Masonic lodge. He was the founder of the men's missionary movement of the First Church of God in Florida.

Liverpool Labor Council To Seek Tax Repeal Again

EAST LIVERPOOL — Trades and Labor Council voted Wednesday night to seek repeal of the latest city income tax via an initiative ordinance it will seek to place on the ballot at the November general election.

If the measure gets on the ballot, it will be the fourth time a vote has been forced here on the issue by the trades council. In 1958, 1959 and 1961, tax ordinances enacted by the city were repealed at the polls in action initiated by the labor group.

It will be the city's fifth vote on the measure. In 1961, a tax was proposed by initiative action by a citizens' committee. It also was turned down.

The present tax of eight-tenths of one per cent was approved by council last Friday night and signed into law immediately by Mayor Bert Goodballet. The tax repealed last year called for a rate of six-tenths of one per cent.

Salem Driver

both lanes of traffic. Alvin Buzzard, 23, of RD, East Liverpool, attempted to stop to avoid hitting Smith, but his car slid into an auto operated by Robert K. Reed, 40, of Wellsville, who was stopped waiting to make a turn.

Buzzard was cited for driving without an operator's license.

Congress

houses of a $435-million manpower retraining bill. Senate action was possible today on a compromise of varying measures passed previously by both houses.

Sponsors believe the program will help more than one million persons acquire new skills in the next three years.

Examiners Checking Appraisal Figures

LISBON — Robert Kenney of Columbus and Thomas Scheets of Salem, examiners for division of county affairs division of taxation, have been in Columbiana county this week going over appraisal cards and making spot check examinations throughout the county in townships, villages and cities. They will then arrive at a percentage figure to be assessed on the new real estate appraisal for Columbiana County.

At the present time Kenney is doing the outside work and Scheets is checking the cards in the appraisal office.

After this check has been completed they will take their figures back to Columbus and a percentage will be made and then all the properties in the county will have to be refigured to get the tax value for the new appraisal. County Auditor Kenneth Bell said.

Thomas J. Reed

Thomas James Reed, 55, of 444 Cedar St., died of cancer at 6:30 a.m. today in his home.

Born at Wampum, Pa., Oct. 20, 1906, he was the son of William and Anna Reed. He married Mary Sommers Aug. 20, 1928.

A member of St. Paul Catholic Church, he had been employed by the E. W. Bliss Co. for 33 years.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, Richard Reed of Louisville; William and Thomas Jr. of the home; five daughters, Mrs. Gary Hutton and Mrs. Ellen Lamp of Salem; Mrs. James Stewart of Lisbon; Shirley and Barbara of the home; three brothers, Joseph Reed of Washingtonville; Henry and Charles of Salem; four sisters, Mrs. William Jackson of Sharon, Pa.; Mrs. William Campbell, Miss Marcella Reed and Miss Annie Reed of Washingtonville, and three grandchildren.

Services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in St. Paul Church with Rev. Richard R. Gaffney officiating. Burial will be in Hope Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Stark Memorial Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Louis M. Little

LISBON — Louis M. Little, 73, of Lisbon RD 2, a former strip mine worker, died Wednesday evening in Erie Veterans Hospital, Cleveland, after an illness of two years.

Born Dec. 17, 1888, in Marion, a son of Frank M. Little and Elizabeth Bier, he was a World War I veteran, serving with the engineers.

Surviving are two brothers, Frank Little of Empire and James Little of Dayton.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Eells-Leggett funeral home. Burial will be in the Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Jennie Rummel

LEETONIA — Mrs. Jennie Rummel, 91, died at 3:30 a.m. today at the Cupola Nursing Home where she had been a patient for three years.

Born Feb. 25, 1871, in Ohio, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eljah Fadel.

She is survived by one son, A. E. Cheyney of Wichita, Kan., and a nephew, D. M. Fadel of Salem.

The body was taken to the Krill Funeral Home in Edgerton, O., for services and burial.

Roadside Marketing Institute Is Held

Eighty persons attended the roadside market institute Wednesday at the Methodist Church in Canfield.

Speakers included Richard Skinner, marketing agent, of Canfield; Ed Royer and Austin Ezell from Ohio State University; Harold Lower of Columbiana, representing Nationwide Insurance Co. on liability of roadside markets, and Dr. Gene Cravens of Ohio State University.

One of the highlights of the program included a debate on "How to Price the Product Mix" by Dr. Cravens and Ed Watkins, marketing agent of Cuyahoga Falls. Floyd Lower of Lisbon was the moderator.

Educators to Visit Technology Institute

Regular meeting of the Council of Chief School Administrators will be held Friday at Salem Senior High School.

The program after lunch will be a visit to the Salem Institute of Technology.

County School Supt. James L. McBride is chairman of the group.

BEDS TO BE ADDED

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Gerald C. Lorence, administrator of Amjerst Hospital, says 26 beds will be added in a $300,000 building program to be started immediately, bringing the hospital's capacity to 71 beds.

Party Held In Leetonia For Miss Prior

Commission had found necessary for the protection of American producers.

If he hadn't, Kennedy said, the United States would have lost substantial trade in the long run and would have thrown a bar in the way to greater economic cooperation with Western Europe.

The White House said that in addition to gaining greater concessions than it granted, the United States received a promise from the six-nation Common Market to resume talks soon on proposals to lower barriers against American farm imports.

How will the tariff cutting agreements work? As an example, the White House estimated the average American car will cost $126 less in European showrooms once the lower tariffs—24 per cent in this case—go into effect. The cost of a European car in the United States would drop an average of $21.50.

Generally, the tariff reductions will go into effect in two stages. The first is scheduled for June 30, the second a year later. A equipment of a National Aeronautics and Space Administration rocket launching station. Damage estimates in the Hampton Roads area is running into the millions.

Virginia Beach officials declared a state of emergency and called in the National Guard to prevent looting. Local police and firemen, the Navy, National Guard and Civil Defense personnel were operating in many of the stricken areas, as was the Red Cross. Helicopters hovered over the worst-hit sections.

About 250 miles east of Portsmouth, Va., the 215-foot tanker A. H. Dumont had her heavy deck cargo swept into the raging seas. In the same area a Coast Guard vessel was proceeding to aid a stricken Chinese ship, the Chun Lee.

Also in the Atlantic, a Coast Guard cutter stood by the Chesapeake Lightship, stationed 33 miles east of Norfolk. The lightship, with a crew of about 16, had drifted some 25 miles from her position. The craft earlier had reported her forward bulkhead had buckled and her chance of surviving was in doubt.

Other Virginia areas hit by high tides were Willoughby and Ocean View, both fronting Chesapeake Bay. Among the evacuees was a family of seven children, all with measles. Two persons suffered heart attacks at the height of the flood. Two women in labor were taken to Norfolk hospitals. Low-lying areas in downtown Norfolk and Portsmouth were flooded.

At Chincoteague, Va., 500 residents were evacuated as the pounding surf broke up their homes.

Two men drowned and another suffered a fatal heart attack.

Although no fatalities resulting from the storm were reported in North Carolina, 60-mile-an-hour winds piled up tides of 10 feet Wednesday along most areas of the state's outer banks. Heaviest damage appeared to be in the Nags Head-Kitty Hawk resort area.

Hopes for the survival of three persons aboard the missing yawl Guinevere were dimmed Wednesday night when a Coast Guard cutter spotted in the water a small box, a plank, a pillow and a 3-by-6-foot piece of hull painted white.

The Guinevere departed for the Virgin Islands from Charleston, S.C., last Monday.

The big storm caused heavy snows in scattered areas of Pennsylvania and took a toll of four lives. High winds damaged many power lines and ripped some roofs off houses.

In New Jersey, nine were dead from combined snow, flood and wind, with six other persons declared missing. Gov. Richard J. Hughes has asked that Jersey coast sectors be declared a federal disaster area. State officials estimate damage at $30 million.

Atlantic City, N.J., had huge sections of its famed boardwalk chewed up. Damage there was estimated at more than $5 million.

At Sea Isle City, N.J., three helicopters evacuated 15 hospital patients to a Cape May courthouse hospital. Also flown out were 15 nurses, doctors and clerical working at the hospital. More than 1,000 persons fled to the mainland from the island resort.

Gale winds and high tides did the most damage in the New York area. Coney Island in Brooklyn was flooded, as were Lower Manhattan areas.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington noted that the storm occurred at a period in a 28-day lunar cycle when the gravitational forces of the sun and moon pull together, thus giving it higher tides. The combined effect is devastating. Also, said the bureau, the wind velocity was exceptional for a winter storm.

It was a little chilly across most of the eastern half of the country but temperatures moderated in much of the Plains region and the western Mississippi Valley. Mercury dropped to near freezing southward into sections of northern Florida and to a cool 46 in Miami.

In the West, a major transcontinental highway through southern Wyoming, U.S. Highway 30, was blocked for eight hours Wednesday after 14 inches of heavy wet snow fell in the southwest corner of the state. Several hundred motorists were halted at Kemmerer, Rock Springs and Evanston.

Snow, snow flurries and snow mixed with rain spread across eastern parts of the northern Plains and south central sections of the Rockies.

Heavy snow was indicated in sections of the Midwest.

County CD Meeting Scheduled Tonight

Another meeting to plan for a countywide civil defense organization will be held this evening at Lisbon village hall beginning at 7:30.

Mayor Dean Cranmer, president of the Mayors' Association, will present the mutual aid agreements signed by all municipalities, villages, trustees and county commissioners so that they can go along with formation of the county defense organization.

The Columbiana County Council of the American Legion called the first meeting to get the county-wide organization started.

County Tax Yield

Totals $1,711,991

LISBON — A total of $1,711,991 in real estate tax funds was collected by noon Wednesday, according to Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer.

The closing date for the collection was yesterday at 4 p.m. The Ohio Edison Company paid the highest tax total of $184,000. The Pennsylvania Railroad was second highest with $153,000 and the Ohio Bell Co. third with $91,000.

Autopsy Planned
CANTON, Ohio (AP) — An autopsy was planned today for a man whose body was found frozen in a snowbank in northeast Canton Wednesday night. Police Chief Rank J. Burnosky said the man, aged 60-65, may have been shot in the head.

Scheduled for April Orbital Flight

Urge for Wings Came Early To Astronaut Don Slayton

SPARTA, Wis. (AP)—"Don was a determined boy, who knew where he was going."

That's how his one-time science instructor remembers Donald Kent Slayton who is scheduled to become his country's second man in orbit next month.

There are many other recollections of the astronaut by family and friends.

He played a trombone for four years in the high school band, and was proud of the uniform; he raised a prize sheep and won a blue ribbon, and sometimes he ran the five miles from school to his farm home to keep in shape for the track team; he has 3,600 hours in the air, and he told his mother the wildest ride of his life was in a taxi cab taking him from one Chicago airport to another.

For Don Slayton—he did not become Deke until Air Force buddies made a nickname of his initials—the urge for wings came early. The Sparta High School yearbook said of him in his junior year that his theme song was "keep 'em flying."

Walter Pribnow, who was Slayton's science instructor and now is superintendent of schools at Appleton, Wis., remembered that during Don's senior year he took a special interest in an aeronautical text.

"We made black airplane models for identification," Pribnow said. "Don was a determined boy, who knew where he was going."

Slayton was born, 38 years ago last week, in the Sparta hospital to Charles Slayton and his second wife, Victoria, both of Norwegian stock, and spent his boyhood on the family farm near the town of Leon.

He was graduated from Leon Elementary School at the head of his class and entered Sparta High School in a class of 180. A new $1.5 million high school, just completed, will be named for him if, the board said last week, he approves the move.

In high school, he played trombone for four years with the band, and there is a picture of him in the band uniform, looking proud, and a little shy. He was out for the track team all four years, and played on the school's Future Farmers of America basketball team for three years.

Don, his brother Howard, his sisters Beverly and Verna, and Russ and Lloyd Harris made the five-mile trip to school daily in a Model T Ford the Harris boys bought for $28.

During track season, Don sometimes ran the five miles to improve his wind and legs.

It was with the Future Farmers that he raised the prize Oxford sheep, and after winning classes at the Monroe County Fair in Tomah went on to the state fair.

Graduated 18th in his class, he enlisted in the Air Force on his 18th birthday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration biography of his Air Force career takes up most of a page: 56 combat missions over Germany, seven over Japan, time out to win an aeronautical engineering degree at the University of Minnesota, a brief tour as a civilian engineer. "He quit a good paying job at Boeing," his mother says, "because he was grounded."

He went back into service with the Minnesota Air National Guard and then to a berth as an experimental jet test pilot at Edwards Air Force Base.

While in Germany, Slayton married a civilian secretary, Marjorie Lunney, whose home is in California. They have a 4-year-old son, Kent. In a brief visit home after Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. made the first orbital flight, the Slaytons were busy with plans for building a home near NASA's new headquarters at Houston, Tex.

At home, his parents—now 74 and 67 years old—hear little of the Mercury project. Charles Slayton is town treasurer of Leon. "We share Don's confidence in this program," his mother says. "We know that God willing, Don's flight will be as successful as Glenn's."

"No parents have a right to interfere with their children's futures. If Don is happy in what he is doing, we are happy."

"And Don would not be happy unless he was flying."

HE GREW HAIR

Before Erickson Treatment

A Few Months Later

Mr. T. A. Melton, Jr., of Hollidaysburg, Pa. (above) gave about 20 minutes of his time for an interview with the Erickson representative — saved and regrew his hair in only a few months with the exclusive home method.

Erickson

HAIR and SCALP SPECIALISTS

World's Largest Home Treatment System

Will be in Alliance, Ohio Tomorrow, Friday Only

The Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists' Staff Director, J. C. Kell, on his regularly scheduled visit will be at the Lexington Hotel, Alliance, Ohio, Friday, March 9, 1962. Every hair-worried person should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Erickson method is known all over the United States. You can have a conference with the Erickson representative regarding your hair and scalp problems at no cost to you whatsoever, learn how the scalp treatments work, and the results you can expect in a short period of time. Results guaranteed by the Erickson organization. We don't ask you to take our word. You will be given a written guarantee from the beginning to end on a pro-rated basis.

The Erickson scalp method, or any other method, is of no value against excessive hair loss due to male pattern baldness. The person shown above does not have male pattern baldness. If you are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss the Erickson scalp method cannot help you.

If you have dandruff, excessive hair fall, thinning hair, excessive oiliness or dryness, itchy scalp, or if your scalp is still creating hair you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Thousands have reported satisfaction from the Erickson Scalp Method. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? Anyway it costs you nothing to come in and learn how thousands have been helped by the years of Erickson experience plus the wonderful opportunity for help it offers. Just go to the Lexington Hotel in Alliance, Ohio on Friday, March 9, 1962 only, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for J. C. Kell, he will do the rest.

Interviews are given in private. You will not be embarrassed in any way.

Mr. Kell will be in Youngstown, Ohio, Saturday, March 10, at the Pick-Ohio Hotel.

Lisbon Social

The Women's Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Tuesday evening at the post home. The attendance was small because of the weather.

A coverdish dinner preceded the business conducted by Mrs. Marie Cosma, president.

Members voted a donation to the heart fund and also discussed the Don Dively fund which they recently started. The group is selling candy for sale for this fund which can be secured from members.

Donations may be left at the Farmers National Bank. Mr. Dively was injured when a truck crashed into his hay wagon on Rt. 30. He has been in the South-Side Hospital in Youngstown almost two years.

March and April birthday anniversaries of members were honored, and the attendance prize was awarded to Mrs. Eva Milhoan.

March 20 is the date of the next meeting when nomination and election of officers will be held.

The "Lenten Quiet Hour" scheduled for yesterday at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ was postponed because of bad weather to March 14. It will begin with a coffee period at 9 a.m.

Pvt. Richard L. Varner, who has been spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Varner of N. Jefferson St., left Monday for Oakland, California. He expects to leave soon for Okinawa where he is to be stationed.

STORES TO BE OPEN CLEVELAND (AP) — Six independent drugstores in suburban Euclid have announced a plan to keep open Sundays on a rotation basis, with two stores operating at a time.

Because of Euclid's policy of strict enforcement of the Sunday closing ordinance, the stores had been closed on Sundays since Feb. 11. A spokesman said stores that stay open will sell only drugs and other merchandise permissible under the Sunday closing law.

THE SECOND WISE MAN

"... we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him."

—Matthew II: 2

According to the Venerable Bede, seventh century English writer, the second wise man was named Kaspar (sometimes also spelled Gaspar).

He is described as having been a beardless youth, with light hair and ruddy complexion. His gift to the Child was frankincense, a fragrant gum which, when placed on hot coals, produces an aromatic vapor.

Such a gift was in keeping with Oriental custom, and served to emphasize the kingly esteem in which the Infant was held.

The exact time at which the Magi arrived to present their offerings and to worship the new Messiah is not given us by Matthew in his rather vague account.

Some writers have expressed the view that the wise men did not reach Bethlehem on the night Jesus was born, as depicted in our Nativity scenes, but probably a year or more later.

Others reason that it may have been as long as two years, since Herod, when the wise men did not return to tell him whether they had indeed found an Infant King, slew all male children under two.

But such a conclusion could easily be wrong. It is possible that the Magi deceived him about the time the star appeared.

And was it really a star, after all? Was it, as rationalists would have us believe today, a natural configuration of heavenly bodies that happened to coincide with the time of Christ's birth? Was it a comet, blazing a trail across the sky? A meteor plummeting to earth in the dark Judean hills?

Clearly not, if the Evangelist speaks the truth. For he writes that the star "went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was."

Even allowing for a certain amount of literary license, this description could scarcely be applied to the behavior of a comet or a flashing meteor.

Rather, it is more like the pillar of fire which guided the people of Israel during their wanderings in the desert wilderness.

And why should these men of the East follow this new star to find a king of the Jews?

The most likely explanation is that they were familiar with the general expectation throughout the East that a divine Redeemer would be born in Palestine.

Even the Roman poet, Virgil, who lived several decades before, mentions the fact that there was widespread belief that a child would be sent from God to establish a new age.

Columbiana Students In Musical Contest

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana High School will enter several music students Saturday at the District 8 Solo and Ensemble contest for band and vocal students at Canton McKinley High School, Canton.

Soloists who will participate in the contest are:

Barbara Bauman, flute; Ann Hetric, clarinet; Deane Hetric, tuba; Collin Knisely, Glenn Churchfield, Marian Lazear, and Bettie Bevan, cornet; and Carol Sleete, snare drum.

The band ensembles in the contest are:

Suzanne Karcher, Nancy Rowland, Judge Wyatt, and Charles Harley in a saxophone quartet.

Barbara Bauman, Susan Ferrall, Ann Hetric, Nancy Lower, and Julie Landsberger in a woodwind quintet.

Marian Lazear, Jerry Justice, Herb Ward, Ken Huck, Ron Sufolk, and Deane Hetric in a brass sextet.

Ann Hetric, Sammae Jackson, Marilyn Hendel and Douglass Knisely in a clarinet quartet.

Lee Bauman, Richard Pine and Carl Netolicky in a percussion trio.

Mrs. E. Gordon Warner, director of the vocal students, announced the following students will enter competition:

Mary Anderson; Sylvia Curl, Lynn Paulson, Michael Sweeney, Sherry Ward, Mary Drew, Jim Koehler, Tom Pfund, Helen Coy, and Mary Ruth Walker.

A special ensemble of Judy Churchfield, Sylvia Curl, Betsy Detwiler, Vaughn King, Lynn Paulson, Paula Roth, Kay Shasteen, Sherry Ward, and Becky Wray, will be entered.

A double trio, Bettie Jean Barber, Mary Drew, Darlene Griffith, Gail Spanabel, Inta Grins, and Connie Wolford; along with a mixed quartet, Mary Dew, Gail Spanabel, Tom Pfund, and Jim Koehler, and a double trio; Grace Clark, Helen Coy, JoAnne Coy, Sandy Arbuckle, Marcia Bieling and Lily Stamets, will represent Columbiana High School.

THE SQUARE DANCE Club will hold a St. Patrick's Day Dance Saturday, March 10, at Ixion School. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 to the music of Joe Hoffman's orchestra. The Columbiana Odd Fellows lodge will hold a public card party Friday, at 8 p.m. in the Lodge hall.

HONORING THE wedding of their daughter, Laurice, to Alvin Gaskin, open house will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Carr from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday. All friends are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Donbar have gone to Great Falls, Montana, where he is assigned work. Anna Walker, Hazel Scott and Bertha Corey will be hostesses when the Past Noble Grands meet in the Rebekah Hall Monday at 8 p.m.

Donald Hineman has returned to Milwaukee after spending ten days with his mother and sister, Mrs. Gladys Barton.

Mrs. Cora Coleman visited Miss Mayme Orr at Salem City Hospital. Miss Orr is slightly improved.

MRS. BERTHA BIERMAN of N. Elm St. will receive members of the South Side Club Friday evening following the World Day of Prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Olenik are the parents of a daughter born Monday in Salem City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer are the parents of a daughter, born in the Salem Central Clinic.

A son was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seidner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lanterman were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Groubert Sr. of East Fairfield.

Matter of Fact

Diamonds are a girl's best friend. This is true because they are pretty and expensive, not because they are thought to have any supernatural powers. In ancient times, however, magical powers were attributed to certain gemstones. Greeks and Romans believed that an occult force was part of the nature of some stones. Astrologers related the effectiveness of certain stones to the wearer's birthdate.

Bison feed on grass, leaves, twigs, roots and barks of trees, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

NON-FICTION

UNDERSTANDING FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND CORPORATE ANNUAL REPORTS by Louis O. Foster. Approximately 15 million people in the United States own stocks, but few of them have any idea of the financial status and operating efficiency of the companies in which they have invested their money. This book teaches anyone how to make practical use of financial reports companies send out each year.

A MIRROR UP TO MEDICINE by A. C. Corcoran, M.D., editor. An entertaining anthology about the world of medicine and those who practice its arts.

ELECTRONICS IN EVERYDAY THINGS by William C. Vargara. A question-and-answer book about the many connections between our everyday living and the electron.

YOUR PRE-SCHOOL CHILD by Dorothy Kirk Burnett. Not an authoritative book on child development and guidance, but a wealth of practical suggestions for doing the things that all mothers ought to do better.

THE IMPRESSIONISTS by Francois Mathew. A biography of that artistic movement which laid the foundations for all the trends and schools which today we call "modern art."

HOUDINI'S FABULOUS MAGIC by Walter B. Gibson and Morris N. Young. This book was prepared from Houdini's own scrapbooks and notebooks. Many of his famous escapes are described, together with how he accomplished them.

PHAROHS AND MORTALS by Forgy Save-Soderbergh. A famous Swedish Egyptologist presents the people and civilization of Ancient Egypt so vividly they almost seem to come to life again. Many illustrations, a lot of them not familiar to us, increase the interest.

THE WILL OF ZEUS by Stringfellow Barr. "This book tries to tell what the ancient Greeks said and did and what seemed to them important." So says Mr. Barr in his preface. We owe them a great debt, and so the reading of what they had to say is most interesting. Not since Will Durant's Life of Greece has there been such a book.

THESE WERE THE SIOUX by Mari Sandoz. Miss Sandoz has known the Sioux since childhood, and did her father whose portrait she painted so indelibly in Old Jules. The book is a sound appraisal of a now-vanished way of life.

THE RANCHER TAKES A WIFE by Richmond P. Hobson, Jr. The author of Grass Beyond the Mountains who lives far, far back in British Columbia, tells what happened after he married a city-raised, interior decorator girl.

STORY OF AMERICAN STATEHOOD by Dana Lee Thomas. The

Medical Unit Lauded For Sabin Program

LISBON — Action was taken to commend the Columbiana County Medical Society for the Sabin polio vaccine program scheduled for the latter part of March at a recent meeting of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council, according to E. S. Kerr of Salem, president of the council.

The council urges Columbiana County residents of all ages to participate in the program.

story of some of the individuals who made the states that now make up the U.S. and how the republic was able to grow in size and power without neglecting its first principles of government is the theme of this history.

LEE by Douglas Southall Freeman. An abridgement of the classic four-volume work on R. E. Lee, done by Richard Harwell who is himself a Civil War historian of no mean ability.

HUDSON TAYLOR AND MAR-IA by J. C. Pollock. The story of a group of pioneer English missionaries in the interior of China. This was during the 1860's, and the Chinese were still extremely distrustful of "foreign devils."

SIR HUBERT WILKINS by Lowell Thomas. Lowell Thomas knew Sir Hubert for more than 36 years and he tells his life story in the first person as if Sir Hubert were telling it. It is a story filled with adventure and with "fists" in exploration.

FICTION

GOD'S HIGH TABLE by Leland Frederick Coolby. Set in the Cascade mountains of the Northwest this is the story of a strange religious sect which had isolated its members in a hidden valley for the past 50 years, and of the people of the nearest town. Some of the younger members of the sect want out of the valley, and the townspeople are determined to build a road through the valley. Besides the love interest there is much violence and interweavings of the plot.

NIGHTWATCH by Nicolette Devas. An English widow who is quite poor in the bargain shows a painting she has inherited to an artist friend. The story of the picture and the two men who want to marry her makes a fast-paced novel of suspense.

THE MAN WHO TOLD THE TRUTH by Loula Grace Erdman. A short novel about a mysterious young man who brings happiness to the inhabitants of a small town. There are also six short stories in the volume.

THE LAND IS BRIGHT, by Noel B. Gerson. A novel about the first three years of the Plymouth Colony and William Bradford who was responsible for its success.

THE LAST SUMMER by Elizabeth Gunn. An unusually well-written novel about a young girl of thirteen. She tells of a summer spent in France, of the people whom she met there, of her father's death, and a little of her life since then.

SPENCER'S MOUNTAIN by Earl Hamner, Jr. A sensitively and beautifully-written story about a year in the life of a Southern mountain boy. It is the year between fifteen and 16 that we hear about, and we meet all the family and neighbors, go deer hunting, help build a house, and fall in love along with the young hero.

THE EYE OF SUMMER by

Marjorie Lee. Three summers in the lives of Spence and his cousin Connie, who had grown very close through the circumstances of their family patterns but discover in the end their relationship is destructive.

FLORENTINE RING by Jackson Staley. Victor steals a valuable ring from a museum in Florence and demands that the government buy it back from him. The story concerns what happens after that.

BUTTONWOOD by Maritta Wolff. Although Paul Maitland had been a bomber pilot during World War II, he comes home and works in a factory in his mid-western home town. He is the sole support of his mother and aunt, and as we get into the story, we find that he is a mainstay of several other people. In the same way we delve into the many cross-currents and conflicts under the surface of otherwise ordinary lives.

Kansas State Raps Nebraska

Ranked Wildcats Run Mark To 22-2

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Kansas State, the nation's third ranked college basketball team, has gone as far as it can in a long-shot quest of a spot in a post-season tourney.
But the odds are stacked against the Wildcats, who can only sit and wait.
Kansas State closed its regular season with a convincing 84-60

Tickets for the District final Saturday at Youngstown will go on sale Friday until Saturday noon at Heddleston's Drugs and Fisher's News Agency for Salem season ducat holders, according to F. E. Cope, High School athletic director. Cope said he hopes to pick up the tickets after tonight's Liberty-South game at the Field House. Any tickets remaining after noon Saturday will be sold to the public. Student ducats will be sold to students of senior home rooms at 7:45 a.m. Friday in the High School gymnasium.

thumping of Nebraska Wednesday night, running its season mark to 12-2. It also kept alive Wildcat hopes of a tie for the conference title.

They can tie only if Colorado is upset by Kansas in the Buffaloes' final game Saturday. Colorado holds a 12-1 conference record. The conference winner gets one of four remaining spots in the NCAA tournament.

Should Kansas State and Colorado tie, the conference members will be polled to decide whether a playoff or flip of a coin will be used to determine the NCAA tourney team.

Two of the other NCAA berths will be decided Friday. Texas Tech and Southern Methodist, tied for the Southwest lead, have a playoff game in Fort Worth. St. Joseph's in Temple play in Philadelphia for the Middle Atlantic League title. The winner goes to the NCAA, the loser to the National Invitation Tourney.

The final NCAA berth will be resolved Monday in a playoff for the Missouri Valley crown, pitting Cincinnati and Bradley. There, too, the winner goes to the NCAA and the loser to the NIT.
Western Kentucky and Detroit, first round opponents in the NCAA major tourney, each suffered upsets in their regular season finales Wednesday night. Marquette beat Detroit 93-92 and Louisville took advantage of poor Western Kentucky marksmanship and came up with an 88-71 victory.

Top Amateur Boxers Win 'Gloves' Titles

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's top amateur boxers, fighting for fun and glory, were crowned Wednesday night in eight divisions in the 35th annual National Golden Gloves Tournament.

A rousing heavyweight fight climaxed a 24-bout finals program that kept a crowd of 11,143 fans in Chicago Stadium cheering.
Bennie Black, 21, a hometown favorite, wound up amateur boxing's biggest show with an upset decision over Buster Mathis, who at 280 pounds outweighed the Chicago heavyweight by some 60 pounds.

The 32 fighters who appeared in Wednesday night's semifinals and finals survived a field of more than 270 from 34 cities.

Toledo, Ohio, finished with only one champion, lightweight Edward Ellis, but it won the team title with 19 points, one point for every bout won in the tournament.

Cincinnati and Chicago each had two titleholders. Cincinnati won second place in the team event with 17 points followed by Chicago with 16, Lowell, Mass., with 15, and Denver and Fort Worth, Tex., each with 13.

Mathis, of Grand Rapids, Mich., although a loser in the three-round title bout with Black, scored an upset victory in the semifinals when he won a decision over James Beattie, 6-foot-7-inch heavyweight from Minneapolis.

Controlled Hunting In State Proves Success

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Landowners cooperating with the Division of Wildlife during the past hunting season in an experimental "hunting with permission" project have expressed surprise at the traveling hunters do to find their game.

Cooperating landowners gave out permits to hunt, and one Clark County farmer had hunters on his land from Zanesville, Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield and Huntington, W. Va., in addition to many local sharpshooters.

Dale Whitesell, district game management supervisor for the division, said seven landowners cooperated with the pilot project and signed up 10 tracts of land totaling 3,455 acres, all in Clark County. In polling the farmers, Whitesell said he found that all were satisfied with the results and that controlled hunting had been achieved.

Seven Ohio anglers are to be honored at the first awards ceremony of the Huskie Muskie Club in Worthington Saturday, March 24. The seven, each of whom caught Ohio muskies each measuring at least 40 inches and weighing 20 pounds or more, are: Robert E. Johnston, Marietta; Stanley A. Babicz Jr., Steubenville; Robert H. Wilson, Columbus; Henry Richard, Dover; Camier S. Drake, Steubenville; H. E. Curry of near Paverly, and Stuart Asher, Dayton.
Olive Green Creek, Piedmont Reservoir, Leesville Reservoir, Cowan Lake and Paint Creek yielded the big fish.

Phil McGinnis, a Columbus angler, made his first good catch of the year near Hayden Run on the Scioto River Feb. 25. Using 39 bluegills.

The Wildlife Council has approved a "fishing-for-fun" program to be tried experimentally for a year by the Ohio Division of Wildlife at three ponds in the Delaware area.

Bass will be placed in two ponds and muskellunge in the third. Fishing will be on a permit basis in order to control it, and anglers will be expected to give gates of catches when returning their permits.

Locals Only 5 Games From State AA Title

By LYNN BROWNE
NEWS SPORTS WRITER

Salem's powerful Quakers gained a berth in the District finals of the Ohio AA Basketball Tourney by slaying the Niles McKinley Red Dragons 75-50 Wednesday night at the South High Field House in Youngstown.

The loss ruined the Dragons' hopes of avenging an earlier season setback (67-60) by the Quakers and moved Coach John Cabas' squad into the District finals against the winner of tonight's Liberty-Youngstown South game. The finals will be played Saturday at 7:45 p.m. at the Field House, with the winner advancing to the Regionals at Kent next week.

Niles stayed within striking distance in the first half, but the Quakers, playing better ball as the game progressed, completely dominated their opponents in the second half, and enabled Cabas to send all his cagers into action.

BOB ESKAY provided the punch for the locals as he outclassed all the players on the floor, both offensively and defensively. The crowd—better than 2,500 strong—was awed as the talented co-captain sent his long two-handed jump shots swishing through the nets with machine-like precision.

He drilled in nine floor shots and three of four foul attempts to top game scoring honors with 21 points, despite being benched for nearly a quarter because of foul trouble.

Little 5-8 Gary Jeffries and big 6-6 Ted Thorne also hit for double figures. Jeffries, capitalizing on his speed and polished left-handed hook shot, sped by his less agile defenders for numerous layups and ended the game with 15 counters.

Thorne powered his way in for 13 counters, but most valuable was his splendid play on the boards. He led the locals in the rebound department, hauling down 10 and did a fine job of feeding his teammates.

SALEM MOVED to a 5-0 lead in the first period and the teams exchanged point-for-point for the rest of the stanza, with the Quakers sporting a 13-7 lead as the game moved into the second can-

Niles' Rick Sygar, who was high for the Dragons with 20 counters, and Salem's Eskay put on a shooting exhibition in the second period. Sygar sank three goals and two charity tosses in an effort to push his team into the lead, but his efforts were futile as Eskay calmly sank four outside shots and two fouls to extinguish the Dragons' fire.

Eskay's nine buckets came on 11 shots while Sygar, an all-state football performer, had to fire away 28 times to pot his nine.

Entering the third stanza with a 29-23 margin, Salem showed why it is rated one of the top ten teams in the state. The Quakers, sparked by southpaw Jeffries, exploded for 22 tallies while holding the stunned Dragons to 12. Jeffries led the bucket barrage with five goals for 10 points.

Fourth period action followed the pattern set in the third, with Salem joying with its opponents and Cabas experimenting with different player combinations — and finding them all potent.

NILES' COACH Joe Bassett had little to say about his team's downfall in the second half. "They put the ball through the hoop more than we did," he said curtly.

Although Coach Bassett seemed at a loss for words, Coach Cabas was his usual buoyant self. "This game warmed us up for the big one Saturday," he said. "We know we must play our best regardless of whom we have to play—Liberty or South."

Cabas' second half analysis was not quite as basic as Coach Bassett's. "We had a pretty good idea of what they would try to do in the second half," he explained. "So we went into a zone defense. It worked."

"Eskay certainly played a fine game, as did Jeffries and Borrelli," Cabas said. "And I thought Bob King played better ball towards the end of the game, and of course it goes without saying that Ted Thorne played a beautiful game."

Cabas explained that junior Bill Berry's game was below par because of a recent flu attack. The talented scoring ace managed to mesh only two points in last night's clash.

"Once again I was impressed with our bench," he said. "Particularly the fact that the boys coming off the bench goes right in and takes charge of the team. This is what makes the difference," he concluded.

Going into Saturday's tilt, Salem will be one of only 32 teams surviving in a starting field of 433 AA teams.

Cleveland East Tech Stays Unbeaten

Fields Narrowed In Both High School Cage Divisions

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech's top-ranked Scarabs, state champions in 1958 and 1959, moved a notch nearer the Ohio high school basketball crown Wednesday night.

Coach Joe Howell's powerhouse made it 20 in a row by handing Brecksville its second loss of the campaign (18-2) by a 51-43 score in the semi-finals of the district meet at Bedford.

Three other teams in the final Associated Press Class AA top 10 also moved along in the grueling tournament test, along with two in Class A.

With the Class AA starting field of 433 cut to 54, nine of the top 10 in the final ratings are still alive. The 500 Class A squads are now down to 48, and six of the elite list are among them.

In Class AA, third-ranked, unbeaten Urbana (21-0) nosed out

Graham Local 66-62 to reach the Troy District finals; seventh-ranked Dayton Chaminade (19-1) trimmed 1942 champion Xenia 58-48 to earn a place opposite sixth-ranked Dayton Roosevelt (18-3) in Friday's finals, and eighth-ranked Salem (20-2) swarmed over Niles McKinley 75-50 to reach the Youngstown finals.

Irondale Stanton Local (23-0), third in the Class A rankings, was a 75-64 victor over Dennison at Brilliant. Beverly Fort Frye (23-0), the sixth-placer in the poll, ousted Byessville 59-52 at New Concord. West Liberty Salem, the 1960 Class A king, ran its record to 18-1 with a 77-41 win over Riverside at Springfield.

Tonight's schedule in the lose-and-out district meets, in which 16 in each class will qualify for next week's regional scraps, isn't too heavy.

In Class AA a pair of games match four former state champs, Martins Ferry, the 1941 winner with a current 18-3 mark, meets Zanesville's 1926 and 1955 champs (14-6) at Martins Ferry. At Columbus, the thrice - champion Newark Wildcats (1936, 38, 43) battle Columbus East, the 1951 champion. Newark has a 12-10 record, Columbus East 11-11.

Zanesville Rosecrans, boasting a 21-game winning streak, meets Lawrence (20-3) tonight at New Concord—the victor going against unbeaten Fort Frye in Saturday's finals, with an Athens Regional spot at stake.

Another big one tonight in Class A pops up at Dayton where New Lebanon Dixie and 1956 champion Arcanum tangle. Each has a 21-1 record.

Cincinnati Reds Coach Regie Otero had a lifetime major league batting average of .391. But he only played in 14 games with the Chicago cubs in 1945.

WITH FABRICS so wonderfully versatile and in such an exciting variety, with colors so delicious, you can almost taste them, with the costume look again the prominent one and the air of femininity in every inch of Fashion, it's just downright fun to sew.

ON OUR mezzanine these days the bright March daylight shines in the big windows on an array of fabrics that makes even a bewildered beginner feel like she could tackle an intricate design and have it turn out a masterpiece.

THERE ARE silks so lovely they are like works of art, fine pastel woolens, cottons that are wrinkle-resistant and are just excellent for suits and summer coats, homespun in such delightful colors and co-ordinated with prints for the costume look, cotton and rayon Paesano cloth—just right for the shift dress—a bountiful display.

THE VERY feminine look that is the Keynote for '62 makes sewing more appealing, more irresistible than ever.

THE COSTUME with its matching coat or jacket, capes, the eased look, the high waistline, little Chanel-like jackets, good any time of the day or evening; the use of scarves and bows, the deft touches of trimming and buttons—all of these make sewing a delight.

LIKE MOST THINGS in this fast but marvelous age we live in, sewing is made easier, much simpler yet at the same time, more of a challenge and certainly much more fun.

SUCH THINGS as the new no-sag zippers in colors to match thread and seam bindings, the amazing interfacing for every sewing need, the very fact that the fabrics you are sewing are to give you long wear with little or no care at all. A sewing machine these days with the creative power that is almost human, makes dressmaking a tempting thing indeed.

PATTERNS are clear and ingenious and often one pattern can be used for a whole wardrobe. This is accomplished with your own imaginative choice of materials, trimmings and accessories.

MAGAZINES are available to the beginner and to the seasoned sewer, the do's and don'ts, the tricks, the finishing touches and details, the very smartest styles, all put together for us to see and to read.

DO COME IN and visit the mezzanine—look at the textures, the colors, the patterns, the trimmings—you'll have fun and we will enjoy showing them to you.

Trouble With Hour-Long TV Programs Is They Aren't

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As all viewers know, television is largely compounded of programs called hour-long shows and half-hour shows.

The trouble is, it really isn't. Gradually and almost imperceptibly television entertainment programs have been nibbled down to 48-minute or less shows and 22-minute or less shows. And it's about time somebody applied some brakes before the teasers, the credits, the commercials, the samples of coming attractions and the exhortation to stay tuned take over entirely.

Happily, one organization is worried about the disappearing entertainment program. The Association of National Advertisers, which obviously wants to keep the audiences happy and receptive to the sales messages. A special ANA study committee which has been monitoring programs said an absolutely shocking amount of time was devoted to matters outside entertainment.

Today's TV program usually starts with the quick spouting of several short commercials surrounding a fast identification of the channel and network. Then an exciting scene, usually taken from the climax of the program to come and meaning nothing except a spurt of gunfire or a man pleading for his life.

Music follows along with the name of the program plus the sub-title, followed by the names of the producer, director, the studio (if filmed) and finally the stars. This includes the regular stars, the guest-star, the special guest-star, and sometimes the extra added attraction.

Time out then for the announcement of the sponsors of the show, followed by the commercial of the first sponsor.

At last (and by this time a viewer could have whipped up a soufflé) comes the program. If it's an hour show, there are more commercials and the station-identification break.

After the shoot out (or, in a variety show, the big production number) comes the promise to return in a minute—and with the implication of more entertainment. But first a final commercial from the alternate sponsor.

After that come some scene's from next week's show.

Then come those long, leisurely credits to the executive producer, producer, director, associate producer, musical director, production associate, associate director, set designer, costume designer, hair stylist, technical director, audio director, lighting director, cameraman, associate cameraman, graphic arts, special lighting effects and on and on even to the listing of corporations involved.

Sometimes this is accompanied by the voice of an announcer with the stay tuned plea. And then more commercials.

The ANA would like entertainment (and this does not include credits and titles but does encompass teasers and next week's attraction) to occupy at least 51 minutes of an hour show and 25½ for the half-hour program. And good luck to them.

Body In Car Trunk Was A Live Mechanic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bill Tanner raced to telephone police when he saw a man tuck a body into an auto trunk, then get into the car and drive away.

Police flagged the car down. Sure enough, the trunk contained a body—a live one. A garage mechanic was listening for an elusive squeak while his coworker drove around the block.

UNIVERSITY SPEAKER

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—A former political science teacher, running for Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large, described the philosophy of President Kennedy's program as moderate in a talk to Young Democrats at Ohio Wesleyan University Wednesday.

The candidate, Alan F. Reeves, onetime Western Reserve University instructor, said both legislative and executive branches must be geared to moderation rather than extremes in any direction.

Loose School Bus Kills 12, Injures 26

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP)—Thirty-two persons, including 12 school children, were killed Wednesday when a bus ran wild after the brakes apparently failed on a steep hill.

Racing at a speed of 50 miles an hour through a narrow street, the crowded bus bounced off a parked station wagon, killing both occupants, and mowed down several pedestrians. Twenty-six persons were injured.

Gas Rate Expert Favors Increase

CLEVELAND (AP)—After studying East Ohio Gas Co.'s 1961 figures, rate expert James M. Honaker is holding to his recommendation that the company should receive rate hikes totaling only $7.5 million a year.

East Ohio is asking for $35 million rate increases, plus an escalator clause that would permit automatic increases whenever the cost of wholesale gas goes up.

Honaker, hired by some Northeast Ohio cities that are among those affected by the rate increases, was to go today before the Utilities Committee of Cleveland City Council, which is conducting gas rate hearings.

He met Wednesday night with a group of Cleveland officials, Harold E. DeHoff, Canton city solicitor, and Richard F. Maier, Massillon city solicitor.

The rate expert told them he will stick with an earlier recommendation to Council, which opposes escalation and suggests a 5 per cent rate increase rather than the 27.1 per cent the company is asking.

The hearings were recessed late in January to allow Honaker to study the gas company's 1961 figures.

Wilson M. Latkovic, chairman of the Utilities Committee, said he expects to appoint a subcommittee to try to reach agreement with the company.

East Ohio has said it will appeal to the Ohio Public Utilities Commission if it is denied the escalator clause.

HELD UNDER BOND

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fred Stittmon, accused of being the leader in a counterfeit ring, was being held under $30,000 bond and is to get a hearing before a U.S. commissioner March 19.

Cleveland Police Inspector Richard R. Wagner arrested Stittmon, 36, at an East Side apartment Wednesday. Stittmon was charged with conspiring with two other men to pass bogus $20 bills.
